Thirteen Sudden Deaths in Westerly

Or in that Vicinity—More Cases of Suspected Poisoned Whiskey—Attempt to Shoot Sheriff Casey—Frederick Sullivan Killed by Train—Rev. I. F. Lusk Transferred

Since last Tuesday there have been thirteen sudden deaths in Westerly and in that vicinity, and of these eleven are known to be people who were accustomed to drink liquor to excess at times. Therefore the report has gone forth that the deaths were due to the drinking of "poisoned whiskey" although up to the present time there is no definite proof that "poisoned whiskey" was the cause of death. Last Tuesday Ellen Murray of Westerly and Joseph P. Bliven of Pawtucket died suddenly, the former being found dead in her room in Pawtucket, Wednesday. Edna Tucker, of Sam Edward, Norwalk, died in Pawtucket. Thursday Henry Larow and Charles R. Hood of Pawtucket died under suspicious circumstances. It is believed that the deaths were caused by the drinking of poisoned whiskey. These two cases are being investigated by the coroner and the police. The whiskey that remained in the bottle from which Larow and Hood drank is being analyzed by direction of the coroner, as is also the contents of the stomach of Larow, removed at the post mortem examination. The result of this analysis is expected to be made known Friday. Mrs. Larow was taken suddenly sick and showed symptoms similar to those that preceded the death of her husband and son-in-law, but which did not prove fatal. These are the only cases under official investigation, and with that of Bliven are the only deaths that occurred on the Connecticut side of the Pawtucket river. The coroner made inquiries as to the death of Bliven, but made no special investigation, as he considered the conditions different than in the Larow and Hood cases. The two deaths in Pawtucket were followed in the evening by the deaths of Cornelius Crandall and Joseph Bent on Main street. On Friday, Lena Blanchard, who declared that she bought whiskey in Westerly the preceding day, died at Avondale. Saturday afternoon William Perrin died in Ashaway, and in the evening Edward Delbert died suddenly in Moss street. All the Rhode Island cases have received visitation and examination of the medical examiner, but as there was no suspicious circumstance in connection with the deaths there was no investigation by the coroner. But for the belief that there is criminal conditions in connection with the deaths of Larow and Hood, "poisoned whiskey" would probably have not been mentioned in connection with the other deaths, although some might have been attributed to alcoholism, couched in the more subdued term of heart disease.

It is not very long ago that three sudden deaths occurred, not far apart, of men who were in the habit of drinking. These deaths were not very frequently, but not even a hint was expressed that they died from drinking. The deaths of the three men remain, however, that there have been a remarkable number of sudden deaths in Westerly within a brief period, and in nearly every instance the victims were whiskey drinkers. Perhaps investigation would have disclosed whether the 50th anniversary of the ordinary in the whiskey they drank, but in no instance was post mortem examination made except in the cases of Larow and Hood, in which Coroner Brown is taking active official interest.

The Pawtucket Seventh Day Baptist church of Westerly was organized on Saturday April 16, 1894, and therefore the 70th anniversary will occur next Saturday, April 16, the same date as the week as seventy years ago, and on the day religiously observed by that denomination. It is planned to have exercises in observance of the event, but not on as large a scale as characterized the 50th anniversary, or that will be arranged for the diamond jubilee. The 75th anniversary of the First Baptist church of Westerly will be observed before the end of the present year.

Frederick Sullivan, who formerly resided with his mother in Stillman avenue, Pawtucket, son of the late Matt Sullivan, was killed near the station Monday morning, shortly after 9 o'clock. He was standing on the platform just south of the station when his hat was blown off by the strong wind. He fell under the car and was killed. The car was stopped by the station master, and the body was removed, and was taken to the platform Mr. Sullivan, aged and died.

He was a molder, employed at the New London Marine Iron Works. He was about 29 years of age, born in Pawtucket, and moved with his mother and the rest of the family to New London about six years ago. He leaves his mother, four brothers, Matthew, James, Edward and Daniel, and two sisters, Katherine and Randa Sullivan. He was a nephew of James and Edward McGarry and of Mrs. Henry Doran, of the London. He was a cousin of Lieut. Cal. Henry S. Dorsey of New London. Just before moving to New London, Frederick Sullivan was in the employ of S. J. Reuter & Son in Westerly.

There came very near being a killing Saturday night in the tenement in West Street where Harry Larow and Charles R. Hood died under suspicious circumstances, when Daniel Cozlin, a non-in-law of Larow, attempted to shoot Deputy Sheriff William H. Cager. He had not been living with his wife for over a year and visited her at her mother's home for the purpose of making trouble. Cozlin, a man of about 30 years of age, was charged with the crime of attempted murder and having a warrant for the arrest of Cozlin, he was taken to the station and held in the city jail.

Conlin made declaration that Officer Casey would take him alive and would not make him a dead body. Larow and Hood were in the tenement at the time. Cozlin was armed with a revolver, and the officer, who was armed with a pistol, pointed the pistol at the officer and pulled the trigger, the hammer striking a cartridge which did not explode. It was later ascertained that the revolver was of the pin-fire pattern and was loaded with six center-fire bullets.

In an instant Officer Casey grappled with Cozlin, and disarmed him. Officer Casey had no trouble in taking the would-be slayer to the lockup. Cozlin will be arraigned Monday in the Stoughton town court charged with assault with intent to kill.

William D. Perrin, a horse-shoer of Ashaway, died Saturday noon from the effects of poison believed to have been contained in whiskey which he purchased in Westerly, Friday. Early Saturday morning he was taken with severe pains in the back, and when coupled with the lapsing of Perrin into a state of coma from which he did not recover, the physician resorted to the use of intoxicants and on Friday gave drinks of whiskey from a bottle, but not from the one which it is believed contained a poisonous foreign substance that caused death.

It is understood that the authorities of the town of Hopkinton will make an investigation.

Rev. I. F. Lusk, who was reassigned last Monday at the Southern New England conference to the pastorate of Grace Methodist church, Westerly, for the conference year, announced Sunday that he had been transferred to Wilmington conference. During his pastorate in Westerly the church has greatly increased in membership and was never in as good condition financially.

Local Laconies. Two trolley trips daily to Pleasant View will begin today (Monday). The strike of the Italian laborers in Westerly has been satisfactorily adjusted. The superior court of Washington county will convene at Kingston next Monday. Four large goldfish, the gift of Edward Congdon, have been placed in Wilcox park.

Gov. George H. Usher of Westerly addressed the Men's Union League of South Kingston Saturday afternoon. At a meeting of the Wakefield Baseball association, Albert McNelis was elected manager, Daniel R. Dixon treasurer, and Louis Holgate collector.

Miss Joanna Shea, who has been operated upon for appendicitis in New York, returned home Saturday, accompanied by her sister, Miss Katherine Shea.

Henry T. Hale, steward of the Mansions house, Westerly, died after several years, and who spends winters in Westerly, is now head steward of the New Woodbury Hotel, N. Y.

The double funeral of Henry Larow and son-in-law, Charles R. Hood, who died under suspicious circumstances last Thursday, took place on Saturday morning. Rev. Samuel M. Cutchart officiated and burial was at River Road.

Joseph Toomey, Charles Ryan, Daniel Shea and John Meehan, assistants to Head Porter Michael Keleher at the Ponce de Leon hotel, St. Augustine, Fla., returned to their home in Westerly Saturday. Mr. Keleher remained over in New York for a brief stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Phillips, engaged in theatrical work in Providence, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Phillips' parents, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Blain in Mechanic street. Miss May F. Blain, who has been visiting in Providence, returned home, and then the Blain family is soon to remove to Waterbury.

Harry McE. Pendleton, son of Maj. Edward P. Pendleton, Twenty-ninth Infantry, is now being designated by President Taft for competitive examination to fill vacancy to occur among the cadets at large at West Point in 1911. The young man is a nephew of Charles H. Eugene B. and James M. Pendleton of Westerly.

Stamford—Plans are being prepared for a $100,000 theater to be erected on Atlantic street.

New Haven—The city is already assuming a cleaner aspect, as the result of the clean city crusade of the Civic federation.

Milford—A force of masons is at work pointing up the bridges along the line of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

Wallingford—It was twenty-seven years ago Wednesday that J. P. Stevenson opened his place of business where he is now closing out.

For Lamé Back An aching back is instantly relieved by an application of Sloan's Liniment.

This liniment takes the place of massage and is better than sticky plasters. It penetrates without rubbing—through the skin and muscular tissue right to the bone, quickens the blood, relieves congestion, and gives permanent as well as temporary relief.

Here's the Proof. Mr. JAMES C. LEE, of 1100 8th St., S.E., Washington, D.C., writes: "Three years ago I fell from a scaffold and seriously injured my back. I suffered terribly; from the heat of my back all around my stomach was just as if it had been heated with a red-hot iron. I could get no relief. Sloan's Liniment took the pain right out, and I can now do as much ladder work as any man in the shop, thanks to it."

It is a wonderful female remedy, as you will admit if you try it. Directions for its use are printed in all languages with every bottle. Price $1.25 at druggists. FRANCO-GERMAN CHEMICAL CO. 168 West 129th Street, New York. mar16d
